Outcome of the conference participation

Overall, the conference was successful and provided a good opportunity to present my research and connect with researchers working in the same field. I presented my talk on the fourth day of the conference and received useful feedback from the participants, especially regarding possible future directions that could help deepen my research.

The conference also gave me and my supervisor the opportunity to meet in person with our current collaborator from Poland, Prof. Dr. Joanna Mikolajewska. Before this conference, we had only communicated online, which sometimes made detailed discussions more difficult. During our meeting, we discussed our ongoing work, reviewed the results obtained so far, and agreed on the next steps to further develop the project.

In addition, I had the chance to talk with other participants about their research and exchange ideas related to my own work. These discussions helped me gain new perspectives and establish contacts that may lead to future collaborations. Overall, the conference was a valuable experience that improved my presentation skills, increased the visibility of my research, and
